

Coach Profile

Craig Warner

craig.warner1
2@gmail.com

USSF E

Craig grew up on the east coast in East Brunswick, New Jersey. He started playing travel soccer at a very young age and with his club he won the N.J State Cup championship. Craig played in competitive tournaments all over the east coast and Canada until he made the move to Southern California.

He played high school soccer at Troy High School in Orange County with his team reaching the semi finals of CIF in his senior year. Craig also split time playing competitive tennis in the off season and played in the CIF tournament for men's singles along with many USTA sanctioned tournaments.

Craig started coaching his younger daughter about 6 years ago when she started playing PYSL and has been the head coach for the Blast 2009 girls team for the past 4 years.

Craig's philosophy is for the girls to have fun while they play the sport they love. He encourages continuous learning of the game and stresses the importance of working on your craft on non practice days to increase player confidence and skill.

